

Euglena

Euglena are one-celled protozoans with a whip-like flagellum that they use to propel themselves through their aquatic environment. Some euglena species have chlorophyll, so can produce their own food through photosynthesis.

Euglena

Euglena are one-celled protozoans with a whip-like flagellum that they use to propel themselves through their aquatic environment. Some euglena species have chlorophyll, so can produce their own food through photosynthesis.

